Launching GOLFTHERE.com and New WORLD-WIDE Destinations

“Wisdom doesn’t automatically come with old age. Nothing does – except wrinkles.
It’s true, some wines improve with age. But only if the grapes were good in the first place.”

-Abigail van Buren

In 2010 we celebrate our 20th birthday, and like fine wine and cheese, we think our original product has only become better with time. Last year we added a number of new comprehensive services from industry leaders to help aid our golf travelers. Travel insurance from Travel Guard, car rentals from Avis, club shipping from FedEx, and the launch of our Double Eagle Club for group leaders – all are recent additions to our ever-broadening expertise and customer service.

Our history was once rooted in providing custom golf vacations to the Southeast, but our passions have always centered around golf travel—time spent on the links with friends, creating memories that last a lifetime, or at the very least, 18 holes. Following our passions and building on the proven course (pun intended) of our Southeastern focus, we added several new U.S. destinations in 2009. The Carolinas, California, Las Vegas, and the golf Mecca of the west, Arizona, are now fully part of our expanding portfolio and have been well received by our customers.

But now your golf experiences are not strictly limited to golf vacations within the U.S. Grab your passport and your travel guide, because we now offer select international destinations, allowing you to tee off at the global level. As you read the phrase, “international golf,” you were probably subconsciously mimicking a Scottish accent and perhaps you were experiencing that tingling sensation that stirs when one dons a kilt, and you would be correct inferring that Scotland is our first non-domestic destination. After all, as we give birth to our first international destination, it made sense to go to the birthplace of golf. In Scotland, the locals are always friendly (as long as you mention the name William Wallace upon introduction) and the courses are remarkable.

SCOTLAND & IRELAND

SCOTLAND

Gene “The Slammer” Sarazen once said, “I wish that every man who plays golf could play St. Andrews once.” Golf is considered to be the greatest Scottish creation—an amazing feat when one considers two other Scottish creations, whisky and bagpipes. As our first international destination, it makes sense that we would pick Scotland, the birthplace of golf and home to many of the world’s most renowned golf courses. For more than 600 years the game has thrived on Scottish soil and we believe there is no better place to enjoy a round of golf.

Imagine walking the fairways of St. Andrews or Turnberry. One cannot help but feel the presence of history as these greens have frustrated and perplexed golf’s greatest players. This is the real thing. To play golf in Scotland is to embrace the authentic heritage of the sport—but it’s more than a museum. Not to mention winning a competitive round of golf in Scotland will forever strengthen the camaraderie between friends, so long as the winner keeps the gloating to a minimum.

Best known for the famous Scottish links courses, there are plenty of hidden gems that grace the countryside. Scotland is a country that is full of variety and the selection of courses is truly remarkable. After your round, the locals are more than willing to offer friendly advice on the best places to dine and enjoy the nightlife.

The Old Course at St. Andrews offers an experience like no other and is one that all golfers must experience at least once in their lifetime—not our words, but Slammer’s. Our St. Andrews golf experience allows you to sample some of the many high quality courses in the area while allowing you an ideal home base for your ultimate golf experience.

IRELAND

In a land known for its famous shades of greens, there are none more famous than the spectacular “greens” on Ireland’s fabled golf courses. Sporting more golf courses per capita than any country in the world, Ireland is a must-visit golf destination. Rugged coastlines and imposing mountains make Ireland’s golf as unique and as unforgettable as their 19th hole.

From lush, green parkland to rugged coastal dunes, Ireland is unbeatable in terms of choice, quality, and awe-inspiring scenery.

ALABAMA – A SWEET HOME FOR GOLF

When one thinks of Alabama, usually two things come to mind, BBQ and NASCAR. But for the serious golfer, Alabama is synonymous with year-round mild weather and quality golf at an unbeatable value. From the 26 courses that comprise the Robert Trent Jones Golf Trail to some of the U.S.'s highest rated golf courses (Kiva Dunes and Farmlinks) Alabama offers diversity in design and unprecedented playing conditions.

As the most experienced Alabama golf packaging company, you can count on Fairways Golf and GolfThere.com to provide the best golf package that fits your budget and game. Let's take a look at some of Alabama's finest courses:

GRAND NATIONAL, Auburn

Robert Trent Jones called this site one of the best he'd ever seen for a golf complex, and we couldn't agree more. With 54 stunning holes, 32 feature water from Lake Saughatchee.

ROSS BRIDGE, Hoover

Just outside of Birmingham lies a monster known as Ross Bridge. Stretching 8,200 yards from the tips and situated on 330 sprawling acres, this massive course will test your game and delight your senses.

THE JUDGE, Montgomery

3-championship golf courses await you in Montgomery, but Golf Magazine has called the Judge one of the 10 public courses worthy of hosting the U.S. Open. With stunning views of the Alabama River, experience for yourself what challenge means in golf.

FARMLINKS, Syllacauga

Play the future of golf! This golf course research facility will treat you to the latest in equipment and what the future of golf turf will be. With a diverse layout, massive elevation changes and panoramic views of mountains and lakes, golfers of all abilities agree, FarmLinks is a break from the ordinary. Rated 4.5 stars by Golf Digest.

THE SHOALS, Muscle Shoals

Featuring 36 holes of unbelievable golf. Fighting Joe and The Schoolmaster will test your game. Come prepared to do battle in this visually stunning area that combines nature and shot-making.

KIVA DUNES, Gulf Shores

The #1 rated golf course in Alabama and one of the top rated courses in the U.S. Designed by former U.S. Open Champion Jerry Pate. Stretching nearly 7,100 yards and fantastic playing conditions makes Kiva Dunes a 'must play' golf course.

PENINSULA GOLF & RACQUET CLUB, Gulf Shores

Featuring 27 holes on pristine land that runs alongside Bon Secour Wildlife Preserve, you are sure to be stunned by the views and the quality of golf. Designed by Earl Stone and rated 4.5 stars by Golf Digest.

LIMESTONE SPRINGS, Oneonta

This hidden gem is just 30 minutes outside of Birmingham. Rated by GolfWeek Magazine as the #1 Public Access course in the state, this 18-hole Jerry Pate design lies in the Appalachian foothills and provides rolling hills and amazing vistas. Stretching more than 7,000 yards, this shot-makers course will delight with quality service and high quality golf. Rated 4.5 stars by Golf Digest.

Spring golf specials abound. Call for information about our unlimited play golf specials throughout the state of Alabama. Hotel and golf packages start at $109 per night per player.

Mystic Dunes Golf Club

Orange County National, Tooth Course

ORLANDO

Well known for theme parks, sunshine, and a cartoon character whose initials consist of the single letter M, Orlando has emerged as one of the world's best golf destinations. Recent voting by more than 300 International Association of Golf Tours Operators (IAGTO) members placed Orlando as the 2010 North American golf Destination of the Year. With a variety of courses, abundant lodging choices, and its ease of accessibility (one of the few golf destinations with a monorail), it's plain to see why Orlando is a top choice for Fairways Golf and GolfThere.com customers.

Launching GOLF THERE.com

It's a privilege that our relationship with our suppliers overseas has granted us the ability to provide you with some of most fabled courses in golf.

We have also added Ireland, where the shades of green will astound you, plus England, South Africa, Prince Edward Island, Canada, and Jamaica. And we won't be stopping there; more international destinations are in the works and will come online by the first quarter of 2010. Our new consumer brand—GolfThere.com—is accompanying the new destinations and enhanced services. GolfThere.com is a comprehensive website that includes more information about the destinations, GolfThere.com is a comprehensive website that includes more information about the destinations, tools to make trip planning easier, online booking capabilities for the do-it-yourself types, and better images and descriptions to let you know exactly what to expect when you arrive.

tools to make trip planning easier, online booking capabilities for the do-it yourself types, and better images and descriptions to let you know exactly what to expect when you arrive. But this new website is more than just a website; we worked to design it as a community for you (yes, you...dear reader). With the ability to provide course and trip reviews, you can let all of our customers know about your trip experience. We hope that you will log on and tell us and your fellow golfers about your thoughts on courses, hotels, resorts and restaurants that you have experienced on your golf travels.

In 20 years many things have changed, but the founding principle – our relentless commitment to deliver ultimate customer service – has remained unchanged. While growth as a company and the additions of new golf destinations and services provide new experiences, our trademark principles in ultimate customer service remain steadfast. Our foremost goal is to be known as golf travel's best.

Thank you for letting us be your trusted golf travel partner (we prefer the term “trip caddy”). Wherever the game is played you can “be there” with GolfThere.com. We look to more exciting changes in the years ahead.

WESTIN KIERLAND RESORT, SCOTTSDALE, ARIZONA

By Alan B. Hale, President, Fairways Golf

The “view from the room” this quarter is from one of the world's finest golf destinations. While there are many quality resort hotels in the Scottsdale and greater Phoenix metropolitan area, few offer the panoramic views like our featured hotel: The Westin Kierland Resort and Spa. As a consistent recipient of the AAA Four Diamond award, the resort combines the eclectic harmony of Arizona desert and Native American themes. There's also a touch of Scotland, as Scottish pipes are played at sunset. When you gather around the fire pit each evening and take in the scenery and the sounds, you'll reflect upon your great day of golf in Arizona.

The photograph featured is from room 1014, which offers a great view of the golf courses and the lake at the foot of the hotel. In addition, you can also enjoy the bagpipe sounds right from the comfort of your room as the sun sets slowly over the hotel and the course. If you'd like to really wind down after your arduous day on the golf course, you can stroll over to the adjacent Agave

Spa. The spa features a private lap pool, men's and women's only spas, whirlpools and steam rooms. The Agave Spa is truly an oasis with a full service salon and 20 treatment rooms. It's a perfect place to relax and unwind before heading out to a great evening of entertainment and fine foods. And all guests of the resort enjoy complimentary use of the workout facility, which is open 24-7.

Lastly, The Westin has maintained 27 holes of challenging, but not unforgiving golf right at the resort. With more spacious fairways than most Arizona golf courses, golfers of every skill level can be fairly tested, unlike so many golf courses in the desert that are truly “target golf.” Kierland was designed by Scott Miller, the former senior designer for Nicklaus. Miller also designed We-Ko-Pa Golf, among others.

View from Room 1014 at Westin Kierland Resort

With a Fairways or GolfThere.com package, we can add many of our personally selected and approved golf courses to your Arizona golf vacation at the Westin. So, regardless of how many rounds you want to play while in Arizona, you can enjoy a truly great hotel that is within walking distance to many of the finest restaurants in Scottsdale. Please call one of our golf specialists today and take advantage of late spring golf pricing along with the many added features and values of booking with us.

ARKANSAS – DISCOVER THE NATURAL STATE

Bordering six states, you can say that Arkansas offers a little bit of everything to the traveler. Many are drawn to Arkansas for its abundant opportunities for outdoor adventure and, of course, its diverse natural beauty. Within a few hours' drive of the center of the state, you can find swamps, forests, mountains, waterfalls, caves, lakes, whitewater streams, rolling hills, prairies — practically everything under the sun.

There are also numerous cultural attractions that make The Natural State a must see vacation and weekend getaway destination. Diversions such as art galleries, microbreweries and even fine restaurants can be found throughout the state. Arkansas' charming small towns often boast delightful boutiques and antique shops that lure travelers seeking a restful reprieve from the hurried pace of modern life.

But ultimately, it's all about the outdoors.

When the weather is warm, many head for the thermal waters of Hot Springs National Park, one of the first national parks in the country.

And, of course, for those interested in a round of golf, the Natural State's offerings include world-class, scenic courses that challenge golfers of all levels.

In Southwest Arkansas, you'll find Crater of Diamonds State Park — the only place in the world where you can walk out into a field that's an actual diamond mine. And where you can sift through the dirt for diamonds and keep what you find!

The state's wine country serves its best in the Arkansas River Valley, which is also home to Fort Smith, the "Wild West" town that bordered the Indian Territory until 1907. For more recent history, former President Bill Clinton's boyhood home is open for tours in his birthplace town of Hope.

LOUISIANA'S AUDUBON GOLF TRAIL

Think of Louisiana, and one instantly thinks: New Orleans, Mardi Gras and great food. But, Louisiana is actually a world-class golf destination. And nowhere is that more evident than along the Audubon Golf Trail. Named for naturalist and artist John James Audubon the Trail features 12 exceptional golf courses that showcase the natural beauty of this "Sportsman's Paradise."

Audubon was so inspired by the natural wonders and wildlife of Louisiana that he painted a number of his famous bird studies here. Coincidentally, all the courses on the trail are members of the Audubon Cooperative Sanctuary for Golf Courses, a program dedicated to protecting the environment and preserving the natural heritage of the game of golf.
